A Guide to Gabriel Couzian® Facial Care System

An Innovative Approach to Caring for Dry Skin

(New York, NY) – Dry facial skin is a common problem that is often not given close enough attention, nor treated properly. Dry facial skin is not only uncomfortable, often resulting in itching and flaking, but can also cause premature aging over time in the form of fine lines and wrinkles. Through breakthrough technology that allows oil and water to seamlessly mix, the Gabriel Couzian® line of facial care products is able to effectively treat and relieve dry skin in a completely unique way. Each facial care product soothes and relieves the symptoms of dry skin without leaving behind a greasy residue. The line's light, clean texture makes it a consumer favorite.

Created in France over 17 years ago by French chemist and pharmacist Gabriel Couzian, the Gabriel Couzian® collection of facial care products have been carefully formulated to treat all skin types, even the most sensitive complexions that suffer from dehydration, age or environmental damage, eczema and psoriasis. Gabriel Couzian® facial products cleanse, moisturize, nourish and restore the skin, encouraging a healthier, more youthful appearance. Simplicity and purity of ingredients provide a more natural alternative to harsh chemicals, hydrocortisone creams and AHAs, without sacrificing performance and results.

The Technology

With an exclusive oil-in-water suspension technology, each product seamlessly blends natural oils, rich plant proteins and pure spring water. This process, which forces water and oil to act as a stable system that does not break down or separate, provides the skin with the best of both worlds: active ingredients that work in both water and oil. The result is an effective emulsion that absorbs easily into the skin without any greasy residue and relieves dryness, flaking and irritation.

Citing the fact that many consumers cannot relieve their dry skin symptoms because the products currently on the market are thick and greasy, founder Gabriel Couzian asserts that his line of body care products, with a pleasant, non-greasy texture that absorbs easily into the skin is a regimen that is easy for consumers to embrace.
